The Naval Fleet Heard From!

THE TROOP'S LANDED AT BEAUFORT N. C.

REPORTED WRECK OF 3 TRANSPORTS.

BOMBARDMENT OF PORT ROYAL.

IMPORTANT FROM NORFOLK.

Wreck of Two Vessels of the Great Fleet.

Fortress Monroe, Nov. 7.

A flag of truce left Norfolk this morning on the Rebel steamer Van Seldou.

She was met near Craney Island by a tug in the service of the Government.

She brought but one passenger. We gather the following information:

On the morning after the great storm of last week two vessels attached to the Federal fleet were found to be wrecked.

One was the transport Union, a steamer loaded with horses, which went ashore on Kill-Devil Shoals, on the North Carolina coast.

All the horses, except fifteen were either drowned or shot by the crew of the Union as soon as it was ascertained that the vessel would be wrecked.

The other vessel, whose name was not given, was also a transport steamer, loaded with guns, ammuni on, and ordnance stores.

She went ashore on Roques' or Roques' beach, about fifty miles below Beaufort, on the North Carolina coast, and was totally wrecked, very little, if any, of the cargo falling into the hands of the rebels.

The officers and men of these two vessels were sent to Raleigh, North Carolina, where they now are. They number seventy-three.

The Richmond papers, of to-day, had not reached Norfolk at the time the Van Seldou left with the flag of truce.

Our informant was unable to give any information relative to the landing of the forces sent with the Great Naval Expedition, even if any such landing has taken place.

The particulars above given, relative to the wreck of the two transports, are from sources believed to be entirely reliable.

The steamer George's Creek, with water and coal for the fleet, left here this morning.

Highly Important from the Great Naval Expedition. Bombardment of Port Royal.

The flag of truce from Norfolk, this morning, brought a gentleman who had visited Norfolk, and who, although bound in honor not to reveal any important facts relative to the South, was yet able to give much interesting and valuable intelligence.

A telegraphic despatch reached Norfolk this morning (Thursday, Nov. 7.) stating that eight vessels of the Federal fleet reached Port Royal, South Carolina, on Tuesday, November 5, and on the morning of Wednesday formed in line and commenced the bombardment of Port Royal.

The bombardment was continued all day, and, according to the despatch referred to, was conducted with vigor, and reported to with effect by the shore batteries.

One steamer was disabled and was towed out of line. Her name was not given, nor the extent of her injuries.

One gun boat ran ashore, and desperate efforts were made to get her off, during which Commodore Tatnall prepared to send out a force to effect her capture.

Her position was deemed extremely critical.

The above was the substance of the despatch as it reached Norfolk. The proverbial effect of the Rebels to give every statement as belonging to their own advantage must not be forgotten.

The Naval Fleet. BALTIMORE, Nov. 8.

The Old Point boat has not yet arrived and consequently we have no news from Fortress Monroe or the naval expedition.

The following statements are made by passengers from Old Point:

They say that the troops had landed at Beaufort, South Carolina, when the bombardment commenced by the fleet.

The report also states that one of the vessels was disabled by the Rebel fire.

What success attended the attack is not stated.

One report says that three of the Federal transports were wrecked.

Commodore Tatnall is said to be in command of the rebel force.

The Great Naval Expedition. NEW YORK, Nov. 8, 2 1/2 P. M.

A special dispatch from Fortress Monroe to the Times says our fleet is bombarding Port Royal, which is said to be in a critical condition, and just ready to surrender.

The rebel commander had a small steamer under his control, and threatened to go out and sink one of the vessels of the fleet which had been driven on a lee shore with heavy loss.

The report comes through a communication, and is believed to be correct. From a son of Gen. Huger's aide.

A special dispatch to the Tribune says one of our gun boats was disabled by rebel guns, and another ran aground, and Capt. Tatnall was about to take her.

It was reported at first that the Great Republic was lost, but it was incorrect.

From Fortress Monroe.

A flag of truce was sent to Norfolk this morning, but brought back no passengers, and no news whatever of the fleet.

Yesterday the United States gunboat Rescue went up the Rappahannock river as far as Urbanna creek, and off the mouth of this creek she captured a large schooner.

She took off all her stores and movable property, and then burnt the vessel to the water's edge.

The Rescue was fired upon from a wrecked battery on shore. The fire was returned, and the rebels completely shell-out.

The commander of the Resolute was occupied the entire day in shelling every spot where there were indications of the presence of rebel troops.

Subsequently a small boat was seen crossing the river with three men. The Rescue's boat was sent in pursuit and captured the boat with two of the men, but the third managed to escape by wading ashore with a bag of letters.

The gunboats Rescue and Bainbridge were to make another visit to the Rappahannock to-day, and shell the woods where the rebel force is supposed to be.

Later.

November 8.

The ferry boat, Commodore Perry, arrived this morning from the Great Expedition.

She lost sight of the fleet on Friday evening of last week, about 30 miles off Bull's Bay. The fleet was bearing towards Port Royal.

The Captain knows nothing about the reported loss of the Union and the other transports. His boat became so disabled that he could proceed no further, but had to run towards the coast for safety.

The steamer May Flower was some distance behind the fleet, with a signal of distress, and the Captain thinks she could not have reached her destination.

The Commodore Perry left several hours near Cape Fear, and finally made Hatteras Inlet.

The flag of truce to-day brings not a word of news concerning the expedition.

The 20th Indiana Regiment, now at Hatteras, will return to Old Point.

News from the Fleet. BALTIMORE, Nov. 10.

The steamer Old Point has arrived. The passengers report that a flag of truce had arrived from Norfolk, and brought news from the expedition, but that the wheelman of the rebel steamer stated to one of the hands of the Federal steamer, that Beaufort had been taken by the United States troops, and that our flag was waving over the Coast House.

Passengers by the boat also report that the Richmond Inquirer, of Friday, contains a dispatch from Charleston, dated Wednesday simply stating that the Federal troops had landed at two points, and marching inland. The dispatch did not say what points.

The officers of the rebel flag of truce refused to give any information whatever.

The Latest from the Naval Fleet—Beaufort and Two Forts Captured. FORTRESS MONROE, Nov. 10.

The steamer Spaulding has arrived from Hatteras Inlet this morning with the 20th Indiana Regiment.

Beaufort has been taken by our troops. No particulars have arrived but main facts correspond with news received a few hours since from Norfolk by a flag of truce.

Great excitement prevailed on the arrival of the news at Norfolk. From the same source we have a rumor that the railroad about Beaufort has fallen into the possession of our troops, with an immense amount of stores.

The Union went ashore, or rather was run ashore in a sinking condition on the first inst., and soon after broke in two in front of the smoke stack. The crew, 73 in number, and 15 horses, were saved.

The men are prisoners at Fort Mearns and Raleigh, N. C.

THE WAR IN KENTUCKY. Rebel Prizes Brought into Charleston—Reported Capture of the Sumter.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 7.

The following additional items of Southern news have been obtained.

An armed Confederate steamer brought into Charleston the brig Betty Ann Wells, of Maine; Michael, Tennessee, and six other vessels as prizes.

The privateer Sumter is said to have been captured on the leeward of Barbadoes.

Wigfall has been made a Brigadier, and Botham a Major General in the Rebel army.

It is stated in Richmond that five hundred and fifteen vessels have run the blockade since the 15th of May.

The Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette says Solomon Berland has been appointed a Brigadier General.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 7.

Gen. Zollicoffer has fallen back to Cumberland Gap and sent to Knoxville for reinforcements.

The Journal says it is credibly informed that in the mountain south of Green River, Buckner's men, within the last 4 or 5 days, have stolen or seized from the rebels several hundred muskets.

At the same time, they report that the rebels have captured a large quantity of arms, and that they intend to get one of them.

War News.

FROM MISSOURI.

Gen. Fremont Receives Orders to Retire from Command.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 3.

Yesterday small bodies of the enemy came within twelve miles of us, and news was received of a breach of their advance guard, 2800 strong.

Preparations were being made to go out and attack them, when General Fremont received the unconditional order from Washington relieving him at once from the command of the Western Department.

Simultaneously the newspapers arrived announcing the fact. The intelligence spread like wildfire through the camp, and created indelible excitement and indignation.

A great number of the officers signified their intention to resign at once, and many Thompson on laid down their arms, declaring that they would fight under no other flag.

The General spent much of the afternoon expostulating with the officers, and urging them, by their patriotism and their personal regard for him, not to abandon their posts.

He also issued the following farewell address to the troops:

H. Q. OF THE WESTERN DEPARTMENT, Springfield, Mo., Nov. 2.

Soldiers of the Mississippi Army:—

Agreeably to orders it is my duty to receive, I take leave of you. Our army has been of a sudden grown up together, and I have become familiar with the brave and generous spirits which you bring to the defense of your country, and which make me anticipate for you a brilliant career.

Continue as you have begun, and give to my successors the same cordial and enthusiastic support with which you have encouraged me. Emulate the splendid example which you have already before you, and let me remain, as I am, proud of the noble army which I have thus far labored to bring together.

Soldiers, I regret to leave you most sincerely. I thank you for the regard and confidence you have invariably shown to me. I deeply regret that I shall not have the honor to lead you to the victory which you are just about to win; but I shall claim to share with you in the joy of every triumph, and trust always to be fraternally remembered by my companions in arms.

(Signed) JOHN C. FREMONT, Major General U. S. A.

The feeling was intensely high during the whole of last evening, and there were meetings held almost everywhere. The various bands serenaded the General, and whenever he appeared he was greeted with cheers. Though notifying Gen. Hunter, as his orders directed, that he had no longer command over the troops, Gen. Fremont spent several hours in making a personal examination of the ground about the city to be prepared for a battle, and in accordance with a written request of all the Brigadier Generals here, he remained in Missouri through the night, ready to lead the army in case of attack.

All the troops slept on their arms, and many officers remained at their posts all night, an attack being hourly expected; but nothing occurred more than the firing on our pickets on two different roads.

The enemy are now camped on the old Wilson's Creek battle ground.

Gen. Fremont is prepared to leave for St. Louis, and will go as soon as Gen. Pope arrives, the latter having been sent forward to take command of the Missouri troops here.

Universal gloom prevails throughout the camp. A battle will undoubtedly occur ere long. The troops will meet the enemy bravely, but they are disheartened and have lost their enthusiasm. The body guard, who could not be induced to remain, and who will now disband, as the terms of their enlistment permit, will accompany

The Battle Impending.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 3.

(Special to the St. Louis Democrat.)—

Gen. Fremont has been induced to delay his departure until the arrival of General Hunter, who is expected this evening.

Efforts are being made by the friends of Gen. Fremont to induce him to remain with the army, even in a subordinate capacity. Many of his staff officers are anxious to stay until after a battle, and Colonel Levey, of Illinois, and Strick and Hudson, of Indiana, all do so, whatever the action of the General may be.

The enemy are still reported to be moving north from Cassville, and Gen. McKim is just about to start, with a considerable body of cavalry and artillery, to make a reconnaissance in force.

SECOND DISPATCH.

Nov. 4.—The efforts to induce General Fremont to remain with the army, to act in the coming battle, in a subordinate position to General Hunter, have failed.

Gen. Hunter arrived here during last night, and Gen. Fremont and most of his staff departed to-day.

Gen. Hunter had an interview, lasting an hour and a half, with General Fremont this morning, in which the latter gave him all the intelligence of which he was possessed in regard to the position of the enemy, &c., and laid before him the plan of battle decided upon by himself and the commanders of the division at their council of war held last evening.

The renouissance in force determined on yesterday, was postponed, just on the eve of its departure, by order of General Fremont.

A scout, who arrived last night, reports the enemy moving slowly in this direction.

Gen. McCulloch has the advance post, and on Friday was ten miles this side of Cassville, so that by to-day (Monday) they must be very near us.

A battle is imminent at any moment.—The enemy, it is thought, greatly exceeds our force, but no fears are felt for the result.

Our army is all here now, with the exception of Gen. Hunter's division.

The body guard of Gen. Fremont, and Holman's Sharpshooters, were the only troops that left with Gen. Fremont. Gen. Asboth accompanied the General, and Acting Brigadier General Carr has taken command of his division.

Colonels Lowry, Strick and Hudson, late of Gen. Fremont's staff, who remain here to participate in any battle which may take place, have received appointments upon Gen. Hunter's staff.

FROM SPRINGFIELD.

ROLLA, Mo., Nov. 7.

(Correspondence of the St. Louis Democrat.)—

Captain Stevens, who left Springfield on Tuesday morning has reached here, and reports that on Tuesday morning our pickets were to be extended beyond the old battle ground at Wilson's Creek, at an advance guard of the enemy having retreated from that point.

Their advance guard at that point numbered seven thousand five hundred strong.

General Wyman had been appointed Provost Marshal of Springfield, and our lines were strictly guarded, no person being allowed to pass west or southwest.

The expedition under Col. Dodge, which left Rolla a few days since in quest of Judge Fremont's band of marauding Rebels, took possession of Houston, in Texas, on the 4th inst., and captured a large amount of Rebel property and several prominent secessionists, including some officers of the Rebel army was also captured, containing information of the position of the entire Rebel force in Missouri.

Capt. Wood, with his rangers, is gone forward to Spring Valley to attack the main body of Freeman's band stationed there.

Capture of One Hundred and Twenty Federal Troops.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 6.

One hundred and twenty Federal troops under Captain Shields, were captured by the enemy near Little Santa Fe, Missouri, this morning. The Federals were on their way to join Fremont's command. The reported force of the enemy was five hundred men.

Important from Missouri. SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 6.

Major Clark Wright, who has just returned from an extensive scouting expedition, reports that the main body of the enemy now stationed on the North Fork of Crane Creek about forty miles south of here. He thinks this force is about 2,500 hundred strong.

McCulloch is on Flat Creek with 7,000 to 8,000, and there are numerous bands, ranging from 100 to 1,000, scattered about the country.

Price's position on Crane Creek is favorable for defense, and he has planted batteries on the old overlooking the approaches to the place.

EXTRACTS FROM MR. RUSSELL'S LAST LETTERS TO THE LONDON TIMES.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Here we have the Northern States gloating over their numbers...

The army, nevertheless, if victorious, is master of the hour, and whoever is its master will hold the United States in the hollow of his hand.

Rapidly and surely is the power of the army being felt, that all eyes are turned upon it, and the politicians are struggling savagely to get places of command in its ranks.

With guns and men enough, it is perfectly plain they should command the Potomac completely, and cross an army under their fire...

country, was received by a small military column a few evenings ago.

BEAUREGARD AND McCLELLAN COMPARED.

When I had the pleasure of conversing with Gen. McClellan for the first time, he asked me several questions with violent interest...

THE SITUATION ON BOTH SIDES.

At all events, the people of the Northern States are going to fight their battles in their own way and on their own ground, without interference or control.

Each will depend on the discretion of the officers in command as to the place to be taken, and it is not unlikely that Fernandez, Ponce de Leon, and the mouth of the Mississippi will be visited with hostile fleets.

One of Toombs' troops of Bengal Artillery, who was over here looking for service after a turn in Italy with Garibaldi, said to me the other day...

Why, sir, I've seen officers of cavalry here, who don't know how to get upon a horse, to sit upon it, or to get down when they are on.

The more I look at the situation, the more the difficulties of Gen. McClellan's position grow upon me. He has not sufficient troops, considering their inexperience to divide his army just now into two bodies...

An English subject, who has just arrived from Richmond, says that there has been a good deal of sickness among the troops, but that they are rapidly recovering, that the food is plentiful, and that the men are well clad...

MR. RUSSELL'S LAST LETTER.

Mr. Russell writes an interesting letter to the London Times, from Washington, under date of October 4, from which we extract the following passages:

The Naval Expedition.

On or about October 10, a great naval expedition will sail from the Fortress and various points along the coast to renew offensive operations against the Confederate seaboard...

Each will depend on the discretion of the officers in command as to the place to be taken, and it is not unlikely that Fernandez, Ponce de Leon, and the mouth of the Mississippi will be visited with hostile fleets.

blowing on a sturdy redoubt. The pilots of the navy run high, and the ocean is a great little affair at Ponce de Leon.

The British blockade, Mr. Russell says: "Our British merchants must yield to circumstances, and if they will disregard the Queen's proclamation and the policy of the country to which they belong, they will have to take the consequences, among which may be the practical expropriation of the rule that enormous profits are generally attended by enormous risks."

Attitude of the Opposing Forces in Virginia.

If General Beauregard is really to be attacked, but not attacked, Gen. McClellan is also prepared to receive an offensive movement rather than to make one.

Gen. McClellan is so well acquainted with his army by this time that he must be aware many of his inferior officers are not fit for their places. Of his men he is sure. The rank and file are equal to their work.

But, after all, the wonder really is that the army is so well officered as it is, and the number of men of fine faces and figures, with the appearance and manner of the soldier about them, which one sees in the streets and in the camps shows what a large military element there must have been among the American people...

FOUND HIS CROWD.—A young man, clad in homespun, was standing in Court street, a few days since, devouring a doughnut, when he was accosted by one of a half-dozen genteel dressed idlers with—"Just come down."

"Yes, guess I have, great place this, ain't it yeon?" said the countryman.

"Well, she's a pretty well, she came down here on business."

THE TWO CARRIAGES.—Julia, here are two carriages—out for you and one for Mary; Mary don't want her's just now, and you may carry it for her till we get home.

HOW TO USE A ROSE.

A STORY FOR THE HARD HEARTS.

The other evening I returned home with an extra $10 in my pocket, which I had earned by my own hands.

I suppose this money will sound awfully small to many of your thousand-dollar-dollar-owners, but I may as well be content to live very comfortably upon it.

Now, my love, said I, just add that to our account at the bank, and I will return to the end of the year.

Fortwith I commenced casting interest, and calculated in my brain. Kitty was silent, and looked the while wondering with her foot.

I've been thinking, Harry, said she, after a moment's pause, that since you've got this extra money we might afford to buy a new rug.

I looked delicately enough at the rug it was worn and shabby enough, that was a fact.

I bought a beautiful new velvet pattern for seven dollars, responded my wife.

Well, then, a common cutted rug like this would only cost three, said my cautious better half, who, being shy, couldn't carry her first ambitious part, wisely withdrew for a gun.

That's more sensible; we'll see about it.

And that's another thing I want, continued my wife, putting her hand constantly on my shoulder, and it's not at all extravagant, neither.

What is it? I asked.

I saw such a lovely silk pattern on Canal street, this morning, and I just got it for six dollars—only six dollars, Harry! It's the cheapest thing I ever saw.

What! that little wooden cottage house of my own, just like that I had often admired on the Bloomingdale road, and had always been the envy and admiration of my neighbors?

Well, said my wife, but we have all been working to this end for years. My wife has darning, patching, mending and saved—we have lived on plain fare and done with the cheapest things.

When our neighbor was gone, Kitty and I looked meaningly at one another.

And a silver watch for sale as good for all purposes as a gold repeater, said I.

Good goodness, Tom, how does 'fal you small of silver?

Yes, Harry, said she, why one would think you had been a miser, like a miser.

TAKING A WALK TO THE STORE.

John Evans, who had had a veteran of sixty years, he had lost an arm and an eye years before the battle of Navarino, which last action unsettled his understanding, both legs being carried off with a chain shot.

As increasing years rendered him infirm, his valets took advantage of him, so that he wrote to his brother a Somersetshire, to send him up some tenants' son as a body servant.

No matter how stupid, if but honest and faithful, he wrote.

His brother was absent, and sent his steward to select a lad. This the steward did, but merely mentioned that Capt. Evans was infirm, not apprising the hunkin of his master's deficiencies, and sent him to London at once, where the Captain lived.

At ten at night he arrived and was immediately shown to Captain Evans sitting room.

John, uncrow my leg, said John, did so, tremblingly.

John, uncrow my other leg, said John, did so, now in a state of bewilderment.

John, uncrow this arm, Trembling still more, to the Captain's great amusement, he obeyed.

John took hold of it as if it would have bitten him.

Now, John—no, I won't take the other eye out—lift me into bed.

John, uncrow my leg, said John, did so, now in a state of bewilderment.

John, uncrow my other leg, said John, did so, now in a state of bewilderment.
